Against Rate Reduction.
Allanta, Ga.—The recent proposition of J. Pape Brown, chairman of the Georgia resirvad commission, to reduce the passensor rate in Georgia from three to two cents per mile was protested against by the Brotherhood of Lacometive Engineers, the Order of Rallway Conductors, and unloss of the blackmentite, machinists and telegrapher, boilermakers, rallway trainmen, curpenters and joiners, electis and carmen. Those organizations employed carpenters and foliars, elects and car mea. These organizations employed an attorney especially to represent them, who urged that such a reduc-tion would work aminst the prosper-ity of the state and lead to a reduc-tion in the number of railroad ca-plores as well as of their wages. The Travelees' Protective association also protested that a reduction as proposed would result in few trains and poor tervice.

USE ELEVATED PLATFORM.

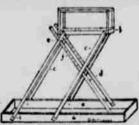

Device Which Will Enable the Orchardist to Make Spraying More

In spraying it is often impossible to reach the upper foliage of the tree. This is particularly in evidence with large trees, and trouble comes even with the medium sized ones. Spraying to be effective must necessarily cover every leaf and branch of the trees treated. To enable the men to get the spray over all the tree, says the Farmers' Review, an elevaned spraying outfit was built, a diagram of which is shown in the accompanying cut.

spraying outfit was built, a diagram of which is shown in the accompanying out.

The bed pieces, "a," should be of the best selected timber oak or ash, two inches thick by 16 or 12 inches wide, and either 16 or 18 feet long. The longer the better, except for short turning, as length prevents lifting up front when clevated platform is only half up and one or mere men are working in the "cage." The end pieces are of the same material, long enough to fit in between side pieces so that frame is proper width for waxon standards. It is well to that the frame to rear bolster. The upright pieces, "c," are of two-by-four-inch hardwood, 14 feet long, fastened by one-half or bree-fourths inch boils to the bed pieces, as shown at "l," and by half-inch boils to the bestium of foor frame of the clevated platform. These pieces, "b," are of two-by-four-inch stuff, or beavier, and the center posts of two-by-two-linch stuff.

The adjustment is arranged for by the two pieces, "b," beited to the bed frame, as are "c," "e," and extending to the forward part of the elevated platform One-half-inch holes, "f," are borred at convenient intervals in "d" to allow a graded adjustment by holding to "e," as shown at "e," "A rod run through from side to side at

Cross pieces may be railed on the front of forward uprights for may to mount platform. The barvel and pump are placed on the front end of the wagon clatform. Any sort of toards or planks may be provided for the floor. The appraints home passes from the barrel to the elevated platform, where it is handled by one ermore men. An awaiting or other arrangement may be placed over the man or men we king the pump to prevent them from being continuity scaked with the dripping or failing apray. SHEEP IN THE ORCHARD.

Under Proper Feeding and Manage-ment They Will Enrich the Soil.

ment They Will Enrich the Boil.

A correspondent says: The greatest value of sheep in an orchard is found probably in their being used as a means of fertilising orchards that are bearing. If put in the same some what early in the spring and fed a suitable supplementary food with the grans which the orchard may furnish, it will be found that the sheep will thus convey fortility to the land, and they will do see in a marked degree if fed on light kinds of food. Such food may consist very largely of wheat bran, which is in itself a valuable fertilizer. It may be wise to encourage the sheep to eat it freely, to add a little oil cake will sho improve the food. The droppings thus left in the orchard still tend very much to its enrichment. The outcome will be that where this system is persovered in during considerable portions of the season, the orchard will thus be provided with a liberal application of fertility. This statement, of course, is based on the supposition that there is some proper relation tetween the number of sheep grazed and the area of the orchard."

Electrical Milking Machine.
From one of the United States consuls in Germany comes a report of the appearance in his consular district of a machine for milking cows, the force employed being electricity. A rubber hood is placed on the udder of the cow and each test fits into a socket. By the repeated exhaustion and supply of air the motion of a calf sucking is fraparted to the tests with the result that the cows give down their milk freely.

Mr. Newman certainly had a very tough time with the grip, and it is no wonder that he thinks that the remedy that cured him can't be beat. His case shows how profoundly grip poisons the system and how obstinately it resists all ordinary efforts to eradicate it.

Few cases can be worse than Mr. Newman's for he had head, heart and stomach troubles combined with great weakness. He recently said:

"The attack of grip which I had eight years ago left me in a very had fix. I became nearly deaf and my head ached continually and was filled with hissing and rearing sounds. My heart fluttered and had regular running-away spells. My stomach was so sere that I could hardly bear a touch on that part of my body.
